7:30 PM	Skills Session Marketing Yourself This topic was recorded. If you want a copy of the recording e-mail Josh and he will send it to you. When we talk about marketing, we're talking about sales When we talk about sales we are concerned with three questions: Who are you? What do you offer? Why should I care? For purposes of marketing – Who and What are the most important questions. Have to learn how to talk and engage people First thing – communicate with your audience – be confident in yourself Be charitable – people like getting free stuff. Don't have to give away your work for free – but can sell for cheap – people don't have all the money they used to have – especially for e-books Be authentic – don't be something you're not. If you're fake, you're done. No one will pay attention to you. But be engaging in some way What makes you different? Everyone is trying to stand out. Pay attention to what is around you. Be different than what others are doing. Learn who you are – learn that what you are selling, is a piece of YOU. You are offering yourself End Goal – not just a sale – our goal is to create a following – a fan base. YOU are what brings them to the table. If you can get them interested in YOU, then you will make sales	Joshua Pantalleresco

Find out what that niche is, and sell to them. It takes time. Know what you are not – weaknesses and what you don't do well. Get better at what you are weak at. Make people care These questions have helped Josh with editors, pitches etc. Be the person who happens to sell, not a salesman who happens to be you." Make your marketing fun – not a person around that doesn't want to play. B:00 PM AGM	Time	Topic	Person
